ACADEMIC CUSTOMS AND DRESS

The origins of many customs of the academic world can be traced to the Middle Ages, particularly the 11th and 12th centuries when the first European universities – Bologna, Paris, and Oxford – were founded.

In their original organization, the universities were like medieval corporations or guilds. In fact the word “universitas” originally referred to any kind of corporation. The students at the universities were equated to guild apprentices, and so the completion of the apprenticeship was celebrated by a “commencement” marking the beginning of their careers.

In the 12th century, everyone wore gowns. The social and economic status of an individual was shown by the extra features, such as fur trimming, on the gowns. Cloaks with hoods were worn over gowns for protection in bad weather. Degrees began to be awarded in the 13th century, and different styles of gowns and different colors came to represent the various degrees and disciplines.

Over the centuries the styles of dress changed, and by the 17th century, the wearing of gowns by men had virtually ceased. But the universities, particularly those in Britain, continued to be conservative and strict in the manner of academic customs and dress. At Oxford, for instance, candidates for master’s degrees had to swear that they owned a gown and would always wear it at the proper times.

The first American universities were founded on English models. However, the wearing of academic dress was not universal and ceased during the Civil War. The custom was revived in the late 19th century, and in 1895 an academic custom code was adopted which, with modifications, is still used.

Most American universities have the standard black gown with the hood serving to distinguish the individual institution. Some American and European universities have adopted or preserved more distinctive gowns. There are three styles of gowns, distinguished mainly by the sleeves: the bachelor’s gown, with long pointed sleeves; the master’s, with a squared sleeve, cut so the forearm is free; the doctoral, with bell-shaped sleeves with three velvet bands.

The hood is the really distinguishing feature of modern gowns, indicating the degree (the width of the edging band), the discipline (the color of the band), and the college or university (the colors of the lining). Today’s graduates have hoods edged in white (B.A.), gold (B.S., BLS), drab (BPS, MBA), or light blue (M.Ed., M.S.). Many faculty members will have blue edging indicating the Ph.D. degree. The faculty will be wearing hoods representing many distinguished institutions of higher education, e.g., maroon and gold for Central Michigan University, blue and gray for Georgetown University, red and black for Rutgers University, green and black for Tulane University, orange and white for the University of Tennessee, and navy blue and orange for the University of Virginia.

THE ACADEMIC MACE

The tradition of the academic mace began in the late 14th century when two ancient instruments, the royal scepter and the battle mace, were combined to form a symbol of the authority of the president or rector of a university. Noblemen carried the battle mace as both a weapon and staff of command, and the sovereign used the regal scepter as a sign of rulership, justice, and authority.

Together with the chain of office, the academic mace indicates that the president of the university is the temporary embodiment of the power, authority, autonomy, and sovereignty vested in the institution represented. At the University of Mary Washington, the marshal of the faculty carries the academic mace on behalf of the president at public events such as commencement exercises, inaugurations, and convocations.

The sterling mace carried today was specially commissioned for the University of Mary Washington. Designed and hand-crafted by British-registered goldsmith Susannah Wagner Merritt of Ashland, Virginia, it comprises numerous symbols of the University, including lapis stones to display the school color; blossoms of dogwood to honor the Virginia state tree; acorns, oak leaves, and a wooden oak handle to recall Brompton's renowned stately oak; and a herringbone motif representing Campus Walk. The six prongs are engraved with the six names of the school prior to its becoming a university in 2004; they are adorned with a lapis disc engraved with the University seal. The handle tip is emblematic of the original Mary Washington mace, first used for the May 1970 Commencement.

THE UNIVERSITY SEAL

In addition to a book and lamp, signifying knowledge, the University seal denotes the year the institution was founded, 1908, as well as the University motto, Pro Deo Domo Patria, translated from Latin to "For God, Home and Country."

PRESIDENTIAL COLLAR

Chains of office, also known as collars, originated in the Middle Ages and are worn today by presidents on ceremonial occasions as part of their regalia. The University of Mary Washington chain is a unique design, hand-crafted from gold-plated sterling silver with lapis lazuli gem accents. Symbols important to the history of the University are incorporated in every element of the chain. A large medallion depicting the school seal is flanked by white oak leaves modeled after the oak tree at Brompton, home of the president. The names of six previous presidents of this institution alternate with its six historical names on links that are connected with dogwood blossoms, the Virginia state tree. The chain was unveiled during Commencement 2006, and by tradition is presented to each new president to wear during ceremonial occasions.

THE EAGLE PIPE BAND

Performing at today's Commencement ceremony is the Eagle Pipe Band. The band was formed in 1997 with a small number of Mary Washington students and members of the Fredericksburg community. It has grown steadily each year, adding pipers, drummers, and dancers.

Of special interest, the Eagle Pipe Band was founded by and is under the direction of Dr. Raymond B. Scott, Professor of Chemistry at the University of Mary Washington. The tartan worn by the performers was designed by the University to match the school colors. It is registered in Scotland's official registry of tartans.

ACADEMIC HONORS AND SPECIAL AWARDS

Academic achievement is recognized at Commencement through a variety of honors and awards. Other awards were presented at the Graduate Recognition Reception on Thursday, May 8, and at the Convocation ceremony on Friday, May 9. In addition, most academic departments sponsor chapters of honor societies that recognize student achievement in specific disciplines.

ACADEMIC DISTINCTION

The University recognizes the academic achievement of graduating students through the awards of Summa Cum Laude, Magna Cum Laude, Cum Laude, With Highest Distinction, and With Distinction. Students who have earned at least 60 graded credits in residence may qualify for the first three of these awards with the following grade-point averages:

Summa Cum Laude	3.75 or higher
Magna Cum Laude	3.50-3.74
Cum Laude	3.25-3.49

With Highest Distinction and With Distinction are awarded to graduating seniors who have earned 30 to 59 graded credits in residence with the following grade-point averages:

With Highest Distinction	3.75 or higher
With Distinction	3.30-3.74

DEPARTMENTAL HONORS

Students may earn graduation with honors in their major subjects. Each department establishes its own requirements for honors projects or theses. All departments require that a student intending to undertake an honors project have a specified minimum grade-point average in the major subject and a minimum grade-point average for all work taken at the University of Mary Washington.

FACULTY EMERITUS

Faculty members who have served the University of Mary Washington for at least 15 years and who have attained the rank of professor or associate professor are eligible to be considered for emeritus status. This honor, by action of the Board of Visitors, is bestowed this year upon the following distinguished members of the faculty.

Judith A. Crissman

Professor of Chemistry

---

Judith A. Crissman received her bachelor's degree from Thiel College in Greenville, Pennsylvania, and subsequently earned her doctorate from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. She joined the Mary Washington faculty in 1968 and has since taught many courses in the Department of Chemistry. Her three decades of college service include membership on numerous academic committees such as the Library Committee, Faculty Organization Committee, and the Environmental Awareness Curriculum Advisory Committee. For the last seven years, she has served as the Jepson Science Center faculty advisor to the Honor Council. Dr. Crissman has been quite active in the University's chapter of Chi Beta Phi National Science and Mathematics Honor Society, has been its faculty advisor since 1988, and has served as historian/marshal and counselor at the national level. She is also an enthusiastic volunteer for the Campus Christian Community.

Stephen L. Griffin

Professor of Art

---

An accomplished photographer, painter, printmaker, and designer, Stephen L. Griffin has taught at Mary Washington since 1983. Mr. Griffin received a bachelor of fine arts degree from the University of South Dakota. After earning a master of fine arts degree from the University of Wisconsin at Madison, he gained extensive teaching experience at the Madison Area Technical College, Jacksonville State University in Alabama, and Virginia Commonwealth University in Richmond before settling in Fredericksburg. Throughout his career, Mr. Griffin has had an active record of both solo and group exhibitions in state, regional, and national venues. Over the years, he has won numerous awards and has had many opportunities for professional development, including arts fellowships. His work can be found in the collections of educational institutions, financial establishments, and businesses.

Thomas G. Moeller

Professor of Psychology

An expert in child psychology, parenting education, and forensic psychology, Thomas G. Moeller began his Mary Washington career in 1973. He holds a bachelor's degree in psychology from Marquette University and master's and doctoral degrees in child behavior and development from the University of Iowa. He received training in clinical child and school psychology from the University of Virginia. Dr. Moeller is the author of numerous articles and books and has been a panelist on With Good Reason, a program broadcast by public radio stations in Virginia and Washington, D.C. His service to the UMW Department of Psychology has included coordinating the Graduate-in-Residence Program and editing the departmental newsletter. In 2007 Dr. Moeller received the Grellet C. Simpson Award for excellence in undergraduate teaching. He is a member of several professional organizations, including the American Psychological Society, the Virginia Psychological Association, and the Society for Research in Child Development.

W. Brown Morton III

Professor of Historic Preservation

---

W. Brown Morton III started his Mary Washington career in 1985 as a part-time lecturer in the Department of Historic Preservation. He received a bachelor's degree from the University of Virginia, and he completed his graduate work in architectural conservation with the Ministère des Affaires Culturelles. His professional record of publications, lectures, honors, grants, and awards – and diligent service to the University of Mary Washington and organizations all over the world – are quite enviable. Before coming to Mary Washington, he served the U.S. Department of the Interior, where he was principal architect of the Historic American Buildings Survey and Chief of the Technical Preservation Services Division of the National Park Service. An expert in historic architecture, architectural conservation, and international preservation, Mr. Morton has undertaken preservation work in Jordan, Egypt, Italy, Vietnam, Nepal, Indonesia, and throughout the United States. In 1995 the Mary Washington College Board of Visitors elected him as Prince B. Woodard Chair of Historic Preservation. To add to his credentials, he is also an ordained Episcopal priest.

Patricia P. Norwood*Professor of Music

---

Patricia P. Norwood joined the faculty of Mary Washington College in 1977. Dr. Norwood received a bachelor's degree from the Wheaton College Conservatory of Music in Illinois and master's and doctoral degrees from the University of Texas at Austin. A gifted musician, scholar, and teacher, she won widespread admiration for her many professional presentations and performances, her published articles and reviews, and her innovative music history and literature courses. In addition to serving on numerous departmental and university-wide committees, Dr. Norwood was an active participant in many community organizations, including the Fredericksburg Presbyterian Church, the Rappahannock Music Society, the Fredericksburg Candlelight Tour, and the Fredericksburg Festival of the Arts. In 2005 the University of Mary Washington recognized her outstanding service by honoring her with the J. Christopher Bill Outstanding Faculty Service Award.

Arthur L. Tracy*Associate Professor of History and American Studies

Primarily a cultural and intellectual historian, Arthur L. Tracy has taught a wide range of courses during his 40 years at Mary Washington, including one of his most popular, the American Civil War. Dr. Tracy earned a bachelor's degree from Barrington College in Rhode Island and both master's and doctoral degrees from American University. He started his career at Mary Washington College in 1968, when he was completing his doctoral dissertation. For 20 years, he directed the American Studies Program, and he twice served as the department chair. His outstanding accomplishments in the classroom were recognized when he was honored in 1981 with the Grellet C. Simpson Award for excellence in undergraduate teaching. Dr. Tracy is also noted for his tireless efforts in creating a faculty position for James S. Farmer, one of our country's civil rights pioneers, and Dr. Tracy later laid the groundwork for the programs that continue to honor Dr. Farmer.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

UNITED STATES SENATOR JOHN W. WARNER

John Warner is serving his 30th year as senator, having won five consecutive elections to the U.S. Senate representing Virginia. In 2005, he became the second-longest serving U.S. Senator from Virginia in the 218-year history of the Senate. He announced last summer that he would not seek a sixth term.

A champion of the men and women serving in the armed services, Senator Warner has been called “the most influential Republican on military affairs” by the Financial Times. He has supported modernizing the structure and operations of the military to ensure its effectiveness in the 21st century.

A former chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Senator Warner is now the committee’s second-ranking Republican. He also is the second-ranking Republican on the Senate Intelligence Committee and the Senate Committee on the Environment and Public Works. In addition, Senator Warner serves on the Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Government Affairs.

A native of Virginia, Senator Warner graduated from Washington and Lee University and received his law degree at the University of Virginia Law School. He served as a petty officer in the U.S. Navy during World War II, an officer in the U.S. Marine Corps during the Korean War, and a captain in the Marine Corps Reserve for 10 years after his active service.

He received a presidential appointment as Undersecretary of the Navy in 1969 and as Secretary of the Navy from 1972 to 1974. During that time, he was engaged in two key diplomatic assignments. He was a representative for the Secretary of Defense in the “Law of the Sea Talks” in Geneva and, subsequently, as principal negotiator and signatory for the United States for the “Incidents of Sea Executive Agreement” between the United States and the former Soviet Union in 1970-1972. The executive agreement remains in effect today and has been used as a model for similar agreements between other nations covering operation directives for naval ships and aircraft in international sea lanes throughout the world.

Senator Warner lives in Alexandria with his wife, Jeanne.

ALMA MATER

All hail, dear Alma Mater,
We sing our praise to you.
High on Marye's Hilltop
You stand forever true;
Born in truth and honor
You ever more shall be,
The model of our future years
And all eternity.

Whene'er we have to leave you
We never will forget,
The lessons you have taught us,
And all the friends we've met;
And we your sons and daughters
Will hold your name on high,
So here's to Mary Washington;
Our love will never die.
